W. J. GEX, JR. NEW Stanislaus Homecoming Highlighted ALUMNI HEAD AT With 51-0 Triumph Over S. J. Peters ST. STANISLAUS For College's Initial Victory

At the meeting of the Alumni Association of Saint Stanislaus held Sunday morning the following were elected to lead the Association for the coming year: President, Walter J. Gex, Jr. (Class 1944); Vice-President, Edmond Brignac, Class 1945; Secretary, Pat Wilson, Class 1946; and Treasurer, William Gordon, Class 1947. Executive committee: Michael M. Irwin, Class 1946; Peter P. Hancock, Class 1946; and Martin Kelly, Class 1946.

Brother Alexis, superior of St. Stanislaus welcomed the assembled Alumni and in his talk outlined plans for the Centenary Celebration of the school in 1954. He dreamed of building a mission hall, a new gymnasium, a modern dormitory and a new building containing at least six classrooms, and a new vocational school, and also a new swimming pool.

Mr. Linden Brand, 1940, suggested that the executive committee with Brother Alexis and Brother Edmund be allowed to select the date and place of the Spring meeting of the Alumni and the date for the next meeting.

Brother Alexis announced that the present bank balance of the Brother Peter Memorial Scholarship Fund is now $43,616.68. It was proposed by several of the members that a committee be appointed to hold the fund in trust and to enhance the fund by as short a time as possible. The goal this year is to obtain sufficient funds to allow for at least one scholarship. The rest of the fund will be used for the purpose of the very near future.

It was voted to make the work and sweethearts of the Alumni to the Spring meeting. Expenses for the trip by the individual members. By all other words, each member would take care of the expense of his guest.

The Executive Committee will fix a date and place to have the present Senior Class induction into the Alumni Association.

Brother Lambert, superior, and various positions at St. Stanislaus from 1899 to 1946 were happy to receive many of the old timers who visited for the day. Among them were: Henry Wagnerspack, 1900; Linden Brand, 1940; Earl Clark, 1916; Mike Irwin, 1910; Ben Wilbert, 1923; Omar Koebel, 1922 and many others.

For the football game at 2:15 p.m. between St. Stanislaus and S. J. Peters High School, of New Orleans, a motorcade with Mr. E. J. Stevenson in charge formed at the St. Stanislaus campus at 1:15 and left the St. Stanislaus band preceded down Union Street to the beach, down the beach to Main, up Main to Necesses, thence down Necesses to the stadium.

At the half hour, planned by Brother Romald, Brother Elbert and Brother Camillus, approximately one hundred and fifteen and students of St. Joseph's Academy, under the direction of physical education teacher, Miss Sybil Koomer, and sister Julia Marie, their moderator, took part in the show.

With fanfare under the north end goal post, attracting spectators' attention, the St. Stanislaus band, with Henry Wagnerspack, 1900, and fifteen girls on each side, marched to the 40 yard line while the band played "Auld Lang Syne." At that point the band played "Hail Hail the Gang's All Here" and the girls went into formation to spell "Welcome Home." The band then played the Alma Mater and the girls formed "Welcome Alumni" in the center of the field.

The band moved on the 40 yard line, closer to the side lines and all the girls came into position for the "Dance Dance" while the band played Philip Sousa's "Katie Goot."

Queen of Homecoming for this year was Miss Geri Martin and the maid of honor was Misses Suzanne and Joanne Blanchard, Carol Mossy, and Jackie Luc. The young girls looked lovely in Fall suits. Miss Martin wore a brown gabardine suit and carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. Miss Suzanne Blanchard wore a suit of blue velvet and Miss Joanne Blanchard, green velvet. Miss Mossy's suit was of navy blue gabardine and Miss Luc's was of wine colored gabardine.

The cheerleaders for S. J. Peters wore white skirts and blouses of gold colored satin jackets, while the cheerleaders for St. Stanislaus wore black and red satin jackets over white skirts and blouses and were Misses Jeanne Turpin, Joanne Lang, Nellie Dick, and Lena Mae Johnson.

Pair of Touchdown Passes Thrown by Holmes

St. Stanislaus had a joyous homecoming celebration Sunday afternoon as the Rockchaws broke into the win column for the first time in three starts, routing the S. J. Peters Wildcats, 51-0.

Jerry Rooney, a New Orleans lad started for the Rocks, scoring three of four touchdowns, including the winning three extra points from placement.

The former Redemptorist lad of two seasons ago scored on runs of 30, 17, and 18 yards. He set up two other touchdowns with a 30-yard run, and by kicking a 28-yard pass from James Holmes.

Sharing the offensive spotlight with Rooney was James Holmes, the Rocks' quarterback who tossed two touchdown passes, one to Bobby Galfoust for 50 yards and one to Jerry Lytle for 20 yards, and scored one on a quarterback sneak. Roger Hottzman circled left end for 24 yards for another. Gilbert Smith scored the other six points.

The homecoming celebration opened with the election of officers for the St. Stanislaus and Alumni Association. Walter Gex, Jr., was elected president, Edmond Brignac, vice-president. The celebration was climaxed with a victory dance at which Geri Martin was the queen. Joan Blanchard, Susan Blanchard, Carol Mossy and Jackie Luc served as her maids at the dance and the game.

There was a splendid half time show as bands of the two schools, and the girls from St. Joseph's Academy put on a fine performance.

Peters had no match for the Rockchaws. The Wildcats gained only 30 yards running throughout and failed to complete a pass.

St. Stanislaus, bouncing back after a similar setback at the hands of Bogalusa, 56-0, held the Wildcats to a first down in three of the four quarters.

Only in the third period, when two 15-yard penalties were inflicted on the Rocks did the Wildcats get past mid-field. They advanced to the Stanislaus 15-yard line but failed to get the ball on downs at the 20-yard line.

JITNEY - JUNGLE CELEBRATES 1st ANNIVERSARY

A most unique birthday party will be celebrated in Bay St. Louis during the next two weeks, when the JITNEY-Jungle store at Main and Second Sts. observe its 1st year of operation. We say unique, because the whole town is invited and everyone will receive presents in the form of anniversary celebration food bargains.

Owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Scharff, the JITNEY-Jungle store has brought local housewives many daily food bargains to assist them in preparing wholesome, nutritious meals the year 'round. However, during the next week, housewives will be treated to the biggest bargains of all, according to Mr. Scharff.

The JITNEY-Jungle system was founded nearly thirty years ago by W. B. McCarty at Jackson, Mississippi and today many JITNEY-Jungle stores are in successful operation across twelve southern states. Each store is owned by local citizens, participating in local and state affairs, paying their taxes and taking active parts in the social and religious life of their respective towns.

JITNEY-Jungle stores are operated on a cash basis of buying and selling. This results in economies not otherwise afforded. As customers are permitted to do their own shopping, they select only what they want, in the quantity they want. Under the JITNEY-Jungle system each store is operated on a strict one price policy. There are no special discounts or favored customers.

Insofar as possible, JITNEY-Jungle stores buy in the local markets and feature the products of nearby farmers and truckers. This is a cardinal policy of the system, and under this plan the optimum of freshness, good flavor and high quality is assured, just as the JITNEY-Jungle clear-view store arrangement guarantees maximum cleanliness and sanitation.

THEY ARE TAXPAYERS TOO, MR. COMMISSIONERS!

When a governing body, or any group or clique comprising that body adopt a policy of buying and dealing only with those whom they consider their friends to the positive exclusion of those business people whom they consider politically opposed to them, it is proof positive that that body or those composing the little controlling group or clique are definitely more interested in fostering their own feelings than they are in the welfare of the community as a whole. Mindful of such practice on the part of our City Commissioners and considering the pitiful plight of our own community brings to mind the theory expressed by an acquaintance recently when he said "A community can be no bigger than the men who are elected by the people to govern that community."

What gives the Commissioners the right to think that they should persecute those whom they consider their political enemies? Perhaps they should humbly consider that they are elected not to the tyrannical position of crushing certain people who differ with them politically but that they are the humble servants of the entire populace. And it should be remembered, too, that except where purchase is made on competitive bid to the lowest and best bidder, each business man regardless of his political status is entitled to a fair and just portion of municipal business.

Those business men pay taxes too, Mr. Commissioners!

FREEDOM CRUSADE NEEDED

Former General Dwight D. Eisenhower, President of Columbia University, now leading the Freedom Crusade, points out that the people in the United States are privileged to have many sources of information, to check one against the other, and to believe what they think happens to be right.

The General points out that individuals have the right to form their opinions according to personal interpretations of information rather than "as slaves to the point of view of their government." This, of course, is an important point but, nevertheless, it would be just as well for the General, and those who work for intellectual freedom, to conduct a crusade to relieve the minds of men from the shackles of organizations to which they belong.

It is quite the habit for Americans, who are quick to join anything that sounds right, to take their opinions from the ukases delivered by the leaders of the organization. This, of course, stifles the intellectual process and makes the man an automaton. This is true whether the individual follows the decree of political, economic, social, historical or religious leaders.

If the mind of man is to be free to pursue the discovery of truth, it must not be tied down by loyalty to any particular organization. The intellect must be free to pursue its study, to think its problems out and to arrive at a conclusion, based exclusively upon the experience, the intelligence and the wisdom of the individual.

No individual who accepts without question the statement of others deserves to consider himself an intellectually free individual. The sooner the rank and file of humanity becomes educated to the degree that they think for themselves, upon all questions, the greater the progress of mankind will be.

FOR A CHRISTIAN PEACE

The newspapers of the land are being bombarded by letters from well-meaning individuals who want the Government to take the lead in establishing a Christian peace.

This is a fine suggestion. It is easily accepted in principle. How the United States can go about establishing a Christian peace with Russia, much less North Korea, escapes us.

The letter-writers should go into more detail. They need not tell the Government, or people of this country, what they should do. They ought to tell Joseph Stalin and the North Koreans what they should do. If they can get results, the world will hail them and their work.

Let's all be at the Court House Friday morning, Oct. 13, you may get the answer to those questions you have been asking concerning the location of the new bridge. ... by the way, the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club is really going to town ... at New Orleans Southern Yacht Club ... six starts ... six wins ... you can't do any better than that ... have been noticing how people conform to the traffic regulations in our little city ... it appears that the majority of us are under the impression that these signs are put up just to give the sign painters something to do ... parking on the wrong side of the street ... facing the flow of traffic when pulling out ... now if someone does hit someone just who is in the wrong ... if the law is to apply to your neighbor ... then it should apply to you as well ... the new STOP signs at the corner of Carroll Ave. and Second ... was watching Pat Garcia warning drivers who went through them without stopping ... the average excuse ... I didn't see them ... or it ... Well, now there is certainly going to be a rushing business at City Hall if anyone begins handing out tickets to all violators of traffic regulations ... for a while anyway ... if we fail to observe and obey our own traffic regulations ... how can you expect visitors to do so ... if we beat the drums to have them punished for violations ... and some violations have a way of turning out to be pretty serious ... like for example ... a death ... how about us ... no matter who is driving and where they are from ... a death is still a death ... kids are high on the casualty lists in this sort of thing ... your kid ... my kid ... Can't we see or is it that we are just a bit too assured one way or the other ... You've got a lot of power under your hands ... when you're driving a car ... its touch can be final for somebody ... to quote ... could be you or your??

by STANLEY FILE

While we're waiting for the ducks to come over bayou and marshes, during our time in preparation for a trip to the islands where the geese will come winging in, we may as well get some practice on other game and stock our freezers with fresh meat.

First of all we get a crack at the elusive little squirrel and, along the same lines, can pick up a couple of rabbits.

We have to wait until December 2nd at least to hunt the weebies, but this week end, Saturday, October 14, we can take off for the squirrel country. We have from October 14 to December 15, two months, but since most of us will work at least 45 days out of this 63-day period we actually have only 18 Saturdays and Sundays left—but, then again, we would hardly expect to hunt on Sundays—so nine more Fall days drop from the hunting lineup. This gives us a precious nine Saturdays to begin the hunting season that we have waited so long for. Better make the most of them and clean up the old equipment for this first Saturday.

By far the most popular method for hunting the nut-crackers is the slow, quiet stalking creep. When the terrain is solid and clean, or in the early morning when the dew has settled over the ground, smothering the noises, quiet movements are possible and profitable. But when the leaves float to earth and rest crisp and dry, cracking at every step like the warning spilt of a rifle, it's best to play the waiting game in some likely spot. Make the dry crisp Autumn work for you instead of against you; listen for the give-away symphony of cracks as old mister fuzzi-tail leaps from dry limb to leafy limb in his flight to his favorite oak. Don't be fooled by the crash of a bird lighting. He'll only make one sound while our squirrel will seldom stop until he arrives at his destination, (if he doesn't see you, that is; or hear you). Listen for the scrapings of his teeth on a walnut and the sound of nut hulls falling through the trees—there's nothing quite like it. He will give himself away, too, as his claws grasp bark in his ascent of the forest tree—quite a sound by itself, quite different from your woodpeckers and flickers and their rattlings and peculiar noises. Train your ears to the sounds of the woods and you'll hear your "Sunday dinner" long before you see him.

Many a squirrel hunter has treated his family to a fine dinner while the man content only with mallard or deer hunting came home to dry beans and pork.

Who said turkey hunting was hard work and expensive? Here's your chance to have a cake and eat it too. The American Legion Turkey Shoot this Sunday afternoon offers as many shots as you wish for that gobble. Take your 12-gauge and good eye to Johnny Miller's Place on old US Highway 90 and try your hand for one of those really BIG birds; there will be eight or ten of them on the roost for your marksmen to compete for. You get six crosses for a dollar and if you're not satisfied with your score you can have six more targets (for another buck of course), and so on until you're satisfied—or your money runs out. The three judges will be fair and the targets don't lie. Everybody benefits; you get your shooting eye and trigger finger to coordinating for the coming hunting season; there'll be plenty of fun and sportsmanship; and the American Legion gets a few more dollars for their new home and pier, which is, after all for everyone's use and enjoyment—And, there's a good chance that you'll get your Thanksgiving gobble! You are no matter how badly you shoot.

While I'm not overly interested in sailing, I do have an interest in our town and the accomplishments of our people. So when word got back that the skippers of the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club braved the finish line six times out of six starts ahead of all the other Coast Clubs, I was compelled to shout right along with the racing enthusiasts. Last Sunday at the annual Good Will Regatta, given for the Gulf Coast Club, by the Southern Y. C. of New Orleans, our B.W.Y.C. showed her wale to the clubs from Biloxi, Gulfport and Pass Christian in all of the six races held. A very enviable record in anybody's game—Sorta comparable to bagging six gibblers with six shots.

Woodlots Source of Cash For Wide Awake Farmers

Wise woodlot management and regular cash crops of wood are boosting farm incomes in every part of the United States.

The farm woodlot no longer is the forgotten forty, source of stove wood and a place to shoot squirrels. All across America farmers are discovering there is a cash crop growing there. It has been there all along but now, for the first time, money can be made harvesting trees as a crop.

Together, farmers own more than 30 per cent of the nation's forestland. Today, with ever-increasing demands for wood and products made from wood, trees are as much an agricultural crop as wheat, alfalfa, cotton, corn or potatoes. Because trees are a renewable resource, forestland can be harvested year after year—and at a profit, too.

Here are typical examples, chosen at random from all sections of the country, of farmers who harvest regular timber crops off their woodlots and make money doing it.

An Alabama 4-H club boy, who manages his blind father's 350-acre forest, harvested $6000 worth of timber in one year. Three years later he cut another cash crop from the same land. His forest management practices assure continuing wood harvests and a regular income from the woodlot.

In Vermont a dairyman and his son work their small farm woodlot with the advice of professional foresters. Since starting their scientific management program, they have netted $700 a year from wood, maple sugar and syrup sales.

STATE EMPLOYMENT AT ALL-TIME HIGH

The State Employment Security Commission said that more people are employed in Mississippi now than at any time in the past.

In the first eight months of this year, officials said initial unemployment compensation claims were 27,472 below the same period of last year.

GAS TAX RECEIPTS OVER $2.5 MILLION

Mississippi's petroleum tax collections were reported by the State Motor Vehicle Comptroller at $2,569,536.10, for the month of September, or an increase of $511,673.73 over last month. Gasoline taxes for September this year are shown at $2,433,104.25, against August's $1,933,620.95.

The new one-cent a gallon gas tax increase totaled $347,586.32 for September. As it is, the overall tax collections with a one-cent a gallon gas tax increase makes this year's "take" much higher.

DISTRICT HOMEMAKING CONFERENCE

Approximately 40 homemaking teachers are expected to attend a district conference at Mississippi State College on October 6, which is one of nine called by Miss Ruth Wallace of Jackson, supervisor of homemaking education for the State Department of Education.

The purpose of the conference is to acquaint the homemaking teachers with

GRAPES CAN BE GROWN PROFITABLE IN MISS.

Grapes can be grown and are being grown in Mississippi—but there is a secret. Of course proper spacing, drainage, pruning, fertilization, and cultivation are necessary, but the secret of high yields in Mississippi is growing the grapes on vigorous rootstock. Anyone who wishes details in regard to locating a vineyard, choice of varieties, trellis and pruning, spraying, fertilizing, cultivation, and harvesting should write to the Agricultural Experiment Station, State College, Mississippi and request Bulletin 450.

STUDENTS

A record 32,903,000 students will be enrolled in the nation's schools and colleges this fall, according to the U. S. Office of Education. Elementary schools are expected to enroll 23,686,000, about 1,000,000 more than last year. Colleges will have an enrollment of about 2,700,000, down about 50,000. An estimated 2,800,000 children will enter the first grade, about 200,000 less than last year.

HOARDING CLUB

An "inventory control" order, designed to curb hoarding of scarce war materials by business firms, was the first restraint clamped on industry by the new National Production Authority. The order contained: (1) A "scarcity list" of materials which are or threaten to be, of bottlenecks in the expanding production drive; and, (2) a broadly-worded prohibition against making more than a normal operating supply of the scarce items. Penalties of a year in prison or a $10,000 fine, or both, are provided.

Age Limit For Appointment
To Second Lieutenant
Raised To 32

The age limit for appointment as a second lieutenant in the Army Organized Reserve Corps has been raised from 28 to 32 according to Major T. R. Martin, personnel management officer, Mississippi Military District.

For those between the age of 28 and 32, the Major said that a position vacancy must exist in a unit of the ORC troop program. No vacancy is necessary for those between the age of 21 to 28.

There are several different ways that a person may qualify for an appointment as a second lieutenant in the ORC.

Anyone who served as a warrant officer or in the first three enlisted grades in the Army or Air Force between December 7, 1941, and June 30, 1947, is eligible to apply for a reserve appointment, provided they are high school graduates or have passed equivalent tests and meet physical, moral and citizenship requirements.

Graduates from accredited colleges or universities who have served one year in any enlisted grade of the Army or Air Force between the dates given above are also eligible.

Personnel currently serving in the Enlisted Reserve Corps, who have completed one year's service with any branch of the armed forces and have satisfactorily completed the Army Extension Courses Ten-Series of the appropriate arm or service are also eligible.

In addition, reserve appointments in any part of the medical field may be made in grades from second lieutenants to colonel, governed by education and experience.

Complete details may be secured on reserve officer appointments from the nearest Unit Instructor, ORC, or by calling 5-8376, extension 7, or by writing Major T. R. Martin, Personnel Management Officer, Mississippi Military District, Jackson, Mississippi.

$13,200 Returned to Miss.
By National Foundation
For Infantile Paralysis

March of Dimes funds from headquarters of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis amounting to $13,200.00 were sent to Mississippi during the month of September. Counties receiving funds were: Coahoma, $6,500; Panola, $2,750; Pontotoc, $2,400; Jefferson Davis, $800; and Lowndes, $750. This makes a total of $97,667.67 sent to the State since January 1 to enable chapters who have depleted local funds to continue underwriting cost of patient care.

Fifty-eight cases of polio for the month of September brings the 1950 State total to 279 cases as compared with 288 for the same period in 1949. According to reports from Dr. A. L. Gray, Director, Preventable Disease Control, State Board of Health, 67 counties have been struck by polio this year.

Eighty-seven Mississippi patients are hospitalized at present. Seventy-nine are in the Vicksburg hospital and eight are in out of state hospitals.

CONGRESSMAN WM. M. COLMER

SOUTHERN DEMOCRATS

Washington, D.C.—During the often heated debate on the Anti-Subversive Bill in the House, Representative Wm. M. Colmer (D-Miss.) called the hand of a left-wing Western Democrat for implying that the Southern Democrats had not supported fully the program against Communism. The Westerner, Congressman Carroll (D-Colo.), quickly trimmed sails and corrected his earlier statement. Colmer is leader of the informal Southern group that was credited with killing the Administration's FEPC bill in the House.

The exchange set out in the Congressional Record was as follows: Mr. Colmer. Mr. Speaker, I regret that I find it necessary in my humble judgment to take to the remarks made by the gentleman from Colorado (Mr. Carroll). When he made a statement in substance to the effect that the record would show that the northern and western Democrats had gone along with this program against communism, he left the implication, of course, very pointedly that the southern Democrats had not done so. He further implied that the Southerners had not opposed the gentleman from New York (Mr. Marcantonio) in his efforts in these matters, and, although I am not authorized to speak for the group on the left (the Republicans), he also implied that they had gone along with the gentleman from New York (Mr. Marcantonio).

I think the Record will show that from the very beginning, if there was any group in this House, and I regret again that I have to speak in a sectional vein, which has consistently opposed communism, it has been that group in this House from the South. I confess we have had no monopoly on it. But if we are going to make comparisons and count noses, when the philosophy of the gentleman from New York (Mr. Marcantonio) was being opposed before it was popular to do so and there was a little group in this House that consistently followed him, it was not the southern group. On the contrary I take pride in the fact that the southern group has taken the leadership here in opposing that philosophy.

Mr. Cox: Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. Colmer: I yield to the gentleman from Georgia.

Mr. Cox: Does not the gentleman remember the story of the rascal with the chicken in the sack hollering "Stop, thief?"

Mr. Colmer: The contribution of the gentleman from Georgia is always appreciated.

Mr. Carroll: Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. Colmer: I must yield to the gentleman from Colorado.

Mr. Carroll: I agree entirely with the gentleman. Certainly the southern Democrats, to the best of my recollection, in almost every instance, have voted to strengthen the international security of this Nation insofar as the Greek-Turkish loan, and the Marshall plan, and every program. If I left that impression, I did not intend to do so.

Mr. Colmer: I accept the gentleman's clarification. I am so glad that he has seen fit to correct what appeared to be a false implication.

Mr. Marcantonio: Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. Colmer: I am compelled to yield to my colleague from New York.

Mr. Marcantonio: I thank the gentleman for yielding to me, to give me an opportunity to make this short statement. I have refrained from making this statement for a long time. But I think the time has come for me to say this. I hate to speak of myself, but I am compelled to do it. I have stood by the fundamental principles which I have always advocated. I have not trimmed. I have not retreated. I do not apologize, and I am not compromising, and I am not running away as the others who run away and apologize.

University Miss. Names of three distinguished out-of-state newsmen who will appear on the annual editor's short course which will be held at the University of Mississippi, Dec. 1-2, have been announced by Dr. Gerald Sorbes, chairman of the Ole Miss department of journalism sponsor of the course. Fred Hill of the Hamburg, Iowa Reporter, Ed Pierce of the Jasper, Ala. Mountain Eagle, and Orin Taylor of the Archbold, Ohio Buckeye, have accepted invitations to appear on the program. In addition, other MidSouth editors will speak as well as men from the advertising fields.

Mr. Hill will discuss the newspaper's relationship to community development, considering the interlocking aspects of a newspaper's income and community spirit. Mr. Pierce, a former Yazoo City newspaperman, will speak on the subject of circulation. His paper, with a circulation of 7000, is one of the larger weekly papers in the MidSouth. Mr. Taylor will discuss public relations from the standpoint of the small newspaper.

Dr. Forbes announced that one of the advertising members of the Advertising Club of Memphis is tentatively planning to present discussions of national advertising in the small paper, the value of emphasizing local advertising and the desires of the advertiser.

The meeting will be climaxed with the attendance of the participants at the Ole Miss-Mississippi State football game in the afternoon of Dec. 2.

"CLEANER" YIELDS $7,720

Seattle, Wash.—Mrs. Lillian Irene Nelson bought an assortment of goods at an auction in 1947, when the estate of George V. Baber was being sold. In the lot, for which Mrs. Nelson paid $190, were two cans labeled "Soot Cleaner." On opening the cans, she found $7,720 in currency. Executors of the Baber estate are trying to get the money back, contending it never would have sold the cans had it known the money was hidden in them. Mrs. Nelson claims the money, declaring she bought the cans in good faith.

He will not receive an appointment, however, until the end of the current school year.

Father Francis was born on September 30, 1923, the first of five children. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Francis, Sr., of 212 Lafayette St., Lafayette, La., have always been staunch members of St. Paul's parish where the young priest spent his childhood. In his early years, he was taught by the Holy Ghost Fathers and the Sisters of the Holy Family. The Reverend John Ne-Glade, C. S. Sp., veteran missionary in Louisiana, was pastor of St. Paul's when Father Francis entered the seminary. The present pastor is the Reverend J. P. Lonergan, C. S. Sp.

Father Francis has one brother, Norman, a junior at Xavier University in New Orleans and three sisters—Mrs. George Navarro who makes her home in Lafayette; Miss Velma Francis, who has a bachelor of science degree from Xavier and teaches in Lafayette and little Miss Mabel Francis who is in the sixth grade at St. Paul's.

SILOS MAY STOP HAY CROP LOSSES

Extension Expert States Protective Measures

State College, Miss.—The tremendous loss in the hay crop this year could have been avoided, declared L. A. Higgins, extension dairyman. Use of silos and forced-air curing barns would have saved most of the hay if not all of it this year, he declared.

Farmers could have put up hay as grass silage, one of the best silages known. There is no other silage that keeps cows in better condition nor stimulates a greater flow of milk than this, he stated.

Grass silage contains more carotene, used in manufacturing vitamin A, more of the protein and minerals are available, digested and assimilated when fed as silage than when fed as hay.

While permanent types of silos are recommended, hastily constructed temporary silos will keep silage and should be considered in an emergency. Some of these are the welded, paper-lined silo, the box type silo, and the trench silo. Any of these will save much more of the hay crop than was saved as hay bors lost most if not all of their hay.

Rural Telephones
Quadrupled
in
in 4½ years

Yes, there are now four times as many telephones serving rural Mississippi as there were at the end of World War II.

This remarkable growth didn't just happen—it was the result of 4½ years of continuous effort, building central office facilities, erecting poles and stringing wire...and the expenditure of more than $6,000,000.

Right now the expansion of Mississippi's farm telephone network is moving along at the fastest clip in history. Today 124 workers are busy full time extending the service to more and more rural areas. A total of 27 rural projects are in various stages of construction, 55 more have been engineered for early construction, and engineering is underway on 20 more.

Filling all of Mississippi's needs for rural telephone service is a tremendous job, and we're pushing our rural expansion program forward at the rate of $200,000 a month to make the service available to more and more rural homes and more valuable to all Mississippians.

...cooking started at the woodpile

Oh happy day when natural gas replaced wood as fuel for cooking! Many callouses—and splinters—were collected chopping wood for those old fashioned stoves in the dear departed days. Natural gas does the heavy work today. Gleaming new automatic gas ranges make cooking a pleasure. See the modern, automatic GAS ranges now on display wherever good gas appliances are sold. They offer you cooking performance at its best. The turn of a knob gives you instant, controlled heat...fast, clean, cool, efficient, and surprisingly low in cost. See the newer models today!

The companies in the natural gas business—the producers, pipe line companies and distributors, the appliance and equipment dealers—employ thousands of people in this area. Their payrolls find their way into the channels of trade, thus increasing the prosperity of people in all walks of life.

PEGGY FOOTE

In going through a box of books that came down to me through the setting of an estate, I came across a large volume called "Camp Fires of the Confederacy." My first reaction was to discard it or to pass it on as soon as possible to one of the boys in my family who might be interested. But its bright cover kept attracting me with its grey, red and blue and Confederate flag boldly flying in the breeze. The "Illustrated" caught my eye, finally, and I began to thumb the pages. I became so interested that I forgot I had promised myself a mint and an early plunge into bed. I thought about time I became acquainted with some of the facts and my All I knew, really were what my grandmother had told us of her own experiences. My grandfather never spoke of it and here, I found were new narratives written by such illustrious figures as General Fitzhugh Lee, French, Butler, Tallhaffero, (pronounced "To Livar" for some enigmatic reason) Leathers, Alexander and dozens of others. This was first hand information and worth reading.

I found that Major General McLaws of Georgia had a wealth of dark, wavy mane and beard that would make the famous "twins" green with envy; that Major General Stephen Remorse of North Carolina had a receding hairline, a thick frizzy beard and piercing dark eyes. Major General William Ma- of Virginia proved to be lean and tall with the unmistakable look of his Irish ancestry with clefts in his cheeks. The eyes, I'm sure and a straight, thin beard. His pose is a Napoleonic one, with one hand thrust into his coat and his uniform appears to have been cut for a man at least two sizes larger than he. They all look badly mussed and untidy—but one must remember that in those days the methods of pressing were scanty and most of them were lucky to be clothed at all. On the faces of all is the banner of courage, strength and hope.

One story stood out as being the most fascinating. It was titled "Every Inch a Hero" written by J. B. Killen. It concerned one Samuel Davis who was hanged on November 27, 1863 in Pulaski, Tenn. He was a lad of seventeen when he entered the Army in 1861. He was a farm boy and his photograph reveals the strong, sweet features with determined chin that I would want my own boy to possess did I have one. He joined Colonel Ledbetter's company of the First Tennessee Regiment and in hardly any time his zeal and bravery recommended him as one fitted to perform the arduous and perilous duties of a scout. Young Davis was selected to procure important information necessary to the success of General Bragg's movements. He procured this but was arrested within the Federal lines with the information on his person. The accuracy of the plans proved that the informant had been one high in the ranks of the Federal engineers and Davis candidly admitted that they had been supplied by an officer high in command but resolutely refused to disclose his name. A pardon was offered him and a safe return within Confederate lines if he would divulge the traitor's identity but nothing could shake his determination. Davis was tried and found guilty after much coercion and he was sentenced to hang.

When informed of his sentence he showed some surprise at the severity of his punishment but he bore up bravely. At precisely 10:00 a.m. on Friday, November 27, 1963 the prisoner, with pinioned arms, was seated in his coffin and driven to the place of execution in a wagon. He displayed no trepidation, only glancing occasionally at the coffin. Captain Armstrong, with uncommon Yankee feeling, remarked to the lad, "I am sorry to be compelled to perform this painful duty" to which the brave and unshaken boy replied, "I am innocent, I have only tried to serve my country and my people; I die in the discharge of duty, and am prepared to die. I do not think hard of you."

Then Captain Chickasaw stepped forward and gave the boy one more chance to save himself. The lad turned to him indignantly and said, "Do you suppose sir, that I would betray a friend? No. I would die a thousand times first. I will never betray the confidence reposed in me."

The young soldier died with the calmness of a philosopher, the sternness of a patriot, the serenity of a true Christian, and the bravery of a martyr.

A deep gloom spread over the community of Pulaski and the deed was commonly and openly stigmatized by the soldiery as an unnecessary assassination. His case furnishes a melancholy example of the atrocities performed under the usages of civilized warfare (is warfare civilized?)

To me the boy portrayed unflinching constancy, high courage and a magnificent sense of honor which characterized so many of the dauntless men in Confederate uniforms.

The book is redolent with more such stories which I should love to find time to read one day. Then I will pass it on to Billy. He will literally eat it up.

Did you know there is an enamel now which can be applied to stoves, radiators and refrigerators in many desired colors? It won't peel or blister and is unaffected by plunging in boiling grease then in dry ice. Sells for 70c a half pint.

Try just plain, corrugated tin sheets for privacy in your yard. Stand them upright and paint them in some suitable enamel. If you are deft with the paint brush paint them in bold stripes. The tin can serve as an attractive partition or wind-break or to screen a small area into a private retreat.

And now you can get those handy little plastic "aprons" to fit over candles and rest on the holders. They hold small flowers and are thrifty for those of us who don't feel like spending $5.00 or $6.00 for flowers for a small dinner party. At a dinner last week for six the hostess used brass candle holders, yellow candles and small chrysanthemums in shades of yellow, bronze and duobonnet. In the center was a copper bowl of apples, persimmons, lemons, yellow squash and green grapes. The table cloth was chintz with yellow primroses on it. It could easily have won a prize in a show. One of the most beautiful tables I have ever seen. The plastic holders sell for $1.00 a pair.

Next time you have the girls in for an afternoon serve cranberry-cheese tarts. You can prepare them ahead and enjoy your own party. Make 8 tart shells by baking pastry on inverted pastry tins or molds, then sprinkle insides of shells with orange rind grated place cranberry sauce (1 can) to drain.

1 cup whipping cream.
1/4 cup confectioner's sugar.
1 3-oz. package cream cheese.
12 marshmallows.
1/2 cup walnut meats, chopped.
Whip cream until stiff and add sugar and cream cheese mashed smooth. Fold in marshmallows into cream. Mix gently the walnuts, cranberries and cream mixture. Pile into shells. If you wish garnish with candied fruit or a minted cherry.

Well! Adeline Samuel has done it again! Another hit! Another triumph! She seems to have a knack of suiting the player perfectly to the part. The smoothest piece of amateur acting I have ever seen.

Au revoir

Legislative Reorganization Committee Recommends Establishment of A State Dept. of Revenue to Collect Taxes

JACKSON, Miss. The Legislative Reorganization Committee has recommended abolishing 13 state agencies, creating a State Department of Revenue to collect all state taxes and to give the chief executive greater assistance in the discharge of his duties. The committee also recommended the creation of a State Department of General Administration to coordinate the activities of the various state agencies.

Recommendations contained in the committee report on general reorganization of the state government were made available to the public today by the committee's chairman, Dave Womack of Belmont. The report also recommended the creation of a State Department of Revenue to collect all state taxes and to give the chief executive greater assistance in the discharge of his duties. The committee also recommended the creation of a State Department of General Administration to coordinate the activities of the various state agencies.

The committee's recommendations would result in a more efficient and economical government. The committee also recommended the creation of a State Department of General Administration to coordinate the activities of the various state agencies.

emphasizes, "would result in an improvement of the public service and more economical expenditure of state funds without recourse to the traditional Civil Service System."

The committee meantime has appointed a subcommittee to study the feasibility of recommending that a reorganization plan be adopted for all state employees. Members of the committee are Sam Allred, McFadden, chairman, J. O. Clark, Iuka, and George Howell, Aberdeen.

Establishment of accounting and budget divisions under the Bureau of General Administration will give the governor a means of closer coordination of the fiscal operations of the state.

The Budget Division would assist the governor in the preparation of the biennial budget which he presents to the legislature. Control of disbursements to see that they are expended by the various departments as the legislature intended will be the functions of the budget and accounting divisions.

The fifth department under the administrative bureau, the Division of Public Works and Buildings, would be given control of public buildings in Jackson, now handled by the Capitol Commission, except for the functions of the State Capitol, the State House, and the State Senate.

This division also would handle all administrative work of a proposed Public Works and Building Council which will exercise functions now performed by the State Board of Public Works.

Two functions now under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of State would be transferred to other departments under suggestions contained in the report. Law enforcement functions of this office would, for instance, be transferred to the attorney general.

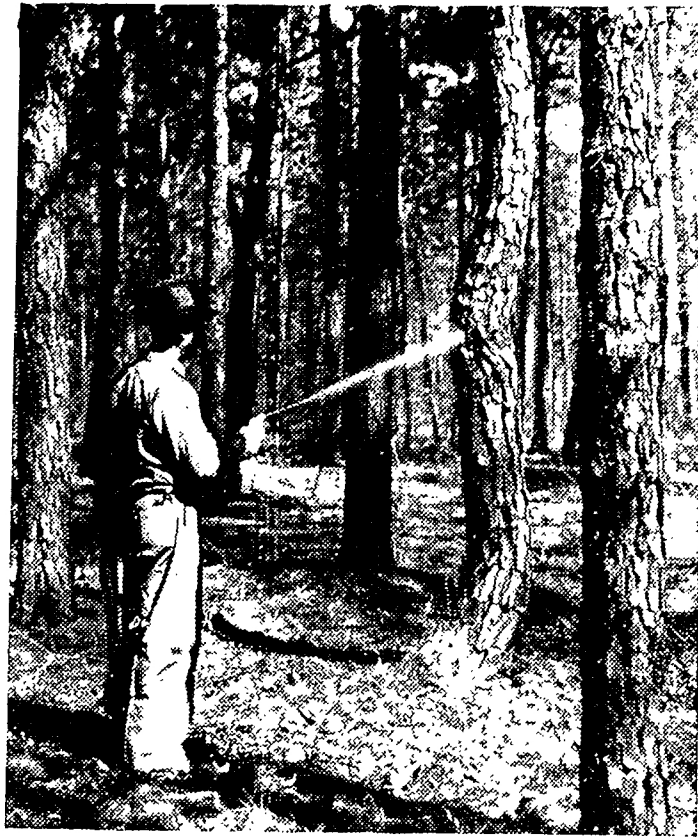

The committee's recommendation would establish a central purchasing division and personnel division under the Bureau of General Administration in the Office of the Governor.

Central purchasing can, the report states, effect as much as 15 per cent savings on all state purchasing by buying in large bulk through competitive bidding.

A centralized personnel program would, the report states, insure uniform personnel practices within state agencies, making state employment more attractive.

The personnel division would, under the plan, assist department heads in recruiting staff members, examine prospective employees to determine their qualifications, and develop an equitable compensation plan which would provide that persons doing similar work in all departments would receive similar pay. Such a program, the report of testing all such functions in a Department of Justice headed by the Attorney General. The Attorney General would be removed from the membership of all ex officio agencies concerned with administration, under proposals made in the report.

Forestry is one of America's fastest growing professions. Here an industrial forester uses a paint gun to mark a defective tree for removal. Today there are approximately 15,000 college-trained foresters in the country. Some 30,000 of these are employed by the forest industries. Scientific tree farming improves timber growth and pays dividends at same time.

The functions of the State's Bond Attorney would be transferred to the attorney general and assigned to a member of his staff. The functions of the State Bond Commission and State Bond Retirement Commission would be performed by the Bureau of General Administration, under supervision of the governor.

In summing up his committee's report covering consolidation of agencies and transfer of duties and responsibilities, Representative Womack said:

"The functions themselves would be allocated among fewer agencies, as in the case of tax administration. Lower administrative costs would be realized normally from the great reduction of supervisory personnel and from the reduction of the number of operating employees and the consequent lowered costs of supplies, expenses and equipment required by these personnel."

Members of Womack's committee include Ben Waller, Ludovickville, and Stokes Sanders of Kosciusko.

What has become of the youngster who believed a few years ago that the world was looking for a man, intelligent, impartial and just?

MEAT PRICE PROSPECT

Poor corn crop prospects, due to the cool and wet weather which has prevailed recently in the mid-Western Corn Belt, which prevents proper hardening of corn before killing frosts arrive are threatening to keep a lot of beef away from butcher shops this fall and winter, with consequent rises in meat prices.

Consumer credit was at an all-time high in July, the last month for which figures are available—$20,300,000,000, a rise of $660,000,000 over June and $4,100,000,000 higher than a year before. Installment credit amounted to $12,600,000,000, a gain of $3,000,000,000 over July 1949.

The Army plans to call 9,770 reserve captains and lieutenants, including 203 chaplains in November. Army aviation officers will be called up by the end of December. The officers recently placed on active duty to 17,427 in the company grades.

WAVELAND WANDERINGS

By
Mrs. Gertrude Hall

The young fry of Waveland really had their fill of ice cream and birthday cake on Sunday and Monday of this week. On Sunday afternoon pretty, little Aggie Bourgeois, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Bourgeois, entertained several of her young friends in celebration of her fourth birthday. All of the decorations were pink and white. The children received pink and white favors and even the birthday cake was decorated in pink. The children enjoyed cakes, punch and ice cream. Games were played during the afternoon and the lucky winners were J. D. Bourgeois and Linda Schwander. Among Aggie's guests were Lynne Hall, J. D. Bourgeois, Paul and Rodrick Henley, Anna Mae Oliver, Jackie and Linda Schwander, Lynette Drew, Mary Francis Yarbrough, Stanley Weidman, Jr., Mary Tom Ladner, Carolyn Bourgeois, Buddee Wilson and Freddie Bourgeois.

Bobby Landers, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Landers, welcomed his seventh birthday Monday afternoon at the home of his parents on Coleman Avenue and St. Joseph Street. Many of Bobby's school friends and neighbors helped him celebrate the big day. Delicious ice cream, birthday cake, pin fours, candy, sugar whistles and balloons kept the youngsters satisfied and amused. "Pin the tail on the donkey," "Tisket-a-Tasket," and other games were enjoyed by the children. Bobby's guests were Kathleen Herlihy, Kissy Torgerson, Carolyn, Walter and Carolyn Damians, Anna Mae Bourgeois, Lynne Hall, Fanny Bozeman, J. D. Bourgeois, Patsy Noonan, Malvin Ladner, Donald Landers, Francis Ferry, Gene Ferry, and Mickey Graham. Miss Mary Margaret Turcotte, Bobby's teacher, was also a guest at the party.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Briere and daughter spent Sunday with the Torgerson family.

Do you feel that honesty is the best policy? On Saturday morning on the 7:30 o'clock local bus, Miss Audrey Bourgeois lost $5.00 and a club plan book. Anyone knowing the whereabouts of this loss, please get in touch with Mrs. Duane Bourgeois on Market St., here in Waveland. If you've found it, just mail it to Mrs. Bourgeois. You will feel better and so will Audrey. Suppose you do just this!

The young Ott Brockmans are mighty proud these days and justifiably so! A nine pound three ounce daughter has made this couple a threesome. The young miss was born at 2:30 a.m., Sunday morning at King's Daughters Hospital in Bay St. Louis. Mrs. Ott Brockman is the former Betty Courge of Lakeshire.

Mrs. Walter Scrimshaw is well again and is back in her store. Her many friends are glad to see her up and about again.

Miss Shirley Turcotte spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Turcotte. Young Walter Turcotte, a student at Perkinson Junior College also spent the week end with his parents. His house guest for the week end was a fellow student at Perk, Leon "Slim" Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Schwander, son Jackie, and daughter, Linda, spent the week end in Waveland with Mrs. Schwander's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Turcotte.

Don't be superstitious. You can have a good time on Friday, October 13 as on any other night. The date certainly won't keep folks away from the square dance which will be held on that night at the Waveland School. Once again the dance will be sponsored by the Pier Committee. Floyd Sones will do the calling. Come on out and have a good time.

Methodist services were conducted by Rev. Robert Salley Sunday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bourgeois, Beverly and Fred, Jr., drove to New Orleans Saturday afternoon to see the Bogalusa-Holy Cross football game. Holy Cross came on top in this one with a score of 20-13.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman B. Hall, Mrs. T. H. Brockman, Sr., and Lynne Hall drove to New Orleans Saturday for dinner and shopping.

The Pass Christian Pirates coached by Norman Hall invaded Bay St. Louis last Friday night and had a tough tussle with the Bay High Tigers. The Pirates and the Tigers played one of the fastest, most exciting games seen here in a long time. When the final Miss Kay Rome, older daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Rome celebrated her twelfth birthday this week at a party given at the home of her parents on Jeff Davis Avenue. Kay and her guests played games and enjoyed refreshments. Mrs. Sylvester Rome, Kay's grandmother from New Orleans was also a guest.

Mr. and Mrs. August McKay, and their granddaughters, Kay and Sally, left Monday for a vacation trip to Memphis and Lookout Mountain.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gipson who celebrated their thirty-fifth anniversary on October 6.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Jackson of Gulfport visited Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Bordages over the week end.

Mrs. Raymond Nelson spent last Thursday in New Orleans visiting her daughter, Mrs. Harold Schuman. On Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson visited his aunt in Biloxi.

Mr. and Mrs. A. St. Angelo and son, Morris spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. J. Albe.

In fact this outside contact boosts greatly and those who are able to leave the hospital look forward to these outings.

LIFE-SPAN OF EARNERS

Length of life for American wage earners and their families has been steadily increasing for more than 50 years, according to life insurance company statistics, which point out that expectation of life at birth is now 67.7 years for the millions of industrial policyholders. Average lifetime among this large section of the industrial population has doubled since 1879-89, the earliest period for which figures are available.

Adopt New Policy Governing Enlistment In Army Reserve Unit; Age Limits 17-34

The Gulfcoast Unit Instructors' Officers recently received and have put into effect, a new policy governing the enlistment of personnel in the Army Reserve. The program maintains the former age limitations—17 to 34. Also Reservists between these ages will receive drill pay and retirement points as before.

In addition to the previous provisions, a man of draft age may now enlist in the Army Reserve, providing he has not received a call to take his pre-induction Physical Examination from his local Draft Board. Once a draft-age man has completed enlistment in the Army Reserve, the Commanding Officer of the Reserve Unit receiving the enlistment will notify the Reservist's draft board, thereby removing him from a probable Class 1-A status.

All male personnel between the ages of 17 and 18 must have a notarized statement of consent from their parents or guardian in order to be eligible to enlist in the Army Reserve.

At present there are Reserve Units located in Biloxi, Gulfport, and Bay St. Louis, Mississippi. These units are Amphibian Tractor and Infantry Companies; thereby giving a choice to the prospective Reservist.

Men with previous service are authorized to enlist in grades comparative to those held at the time of discharge from the Armed Forces.
